

Fixed-r models only work at their training depth; truncated training is robust (80M)

